At a press conference a couple weeks ago, Republican gubernatorial candidate Bill Simon held up a 4-year-old photograph that he claimed showed a man handing an illegal campaign contribution to then-Lt. Governor Gray Davis. The man in the photo with Davis is a gentleman named Al Angele, who had spent a dozen years in service to his community as a police officer and 3 years as a member of the State Parole Board. Out of the blue, this public servant and American citizen was being depicted in various national news media as some kind of criminal. Goodbye Capra! Hello Kafka!

This Friday, October 25, at 11:00 a.m., Al Angele and his legal counsels Stephen Solomon and Stephen Jamieson of the Los Angeles law firm Solomon, Saltsman & Jamieson, will disclose how Mr. Angele plans to proceed in resolving this matter with candidate Simon.

Regardless of whether he ends up in a Big House after November or not, this press conference will mark a milestone in Bill Simon's political career!

It will also mark a day that brings some resolution for Al Angele and his family. For a private citizen to be subjected to labelling and judgement by powerful political interests and then offered no written apology, it is a textbook example of American Politics gone wrong. Hello Kafka!

But on Friday morning, October 25th, at 11:00 a.m., it will be the California Political Story of the Year. Hello Capra again!
